Unit 4 – The Guide

Ever thought it might be fun to chase the world's hardest-to-find ball around 6,600 yards of beautiful fields, trees, ponds, and sand “features” for four hours in the sun, rain, wind, sleet, and snow? Well, you might like to try golf! In case you do, Rick Shiels developed a short course on YouTube to walk new players (and old) through a step-by-step guide on how to swing a golf club. It is very informative, and even the most seasoned weekend warriors can glean a tidbit from Mr. Shiels.

The website is almost done! At least I’m rounding the corner on completion at this point. I think I like the CSS layout for now, it has a modern and sleek feel to it. Next will be incorporating the final design document, and a page filled with links. I am not sure exactly how I want to do the links page; maybe make it a table of contents style or directory to get to each page and the links to the outside pages/videos.
